Greek “all sufficient”

“Would you drown your cares? Then plunge yourself in the Godhead’s deepest sea, be lost in His immensity, and you shall come forth as a couch of rest, refreshed and invigorated. I know nothing which can so comfort the soul, so calm the swelling billows of sorrow and grief, so speak peace to the winds of trials as a Christian focusing on the Godhead!” Spurgeon

“Nothing less than a rediscovery of God will meet the deepest need of our complex personality. What we need is a new revelation of Him as El Shaddai, God All-sufficient, immeasurably greater than our conscious inadequacy. The trouble is that our conception of God is too small. We consider Him inadequate to cope with the complexities and weaknesses of our nature.” Oswald Sanders
